A Poetic Tapestry of the Pandemic

Pandemic Year in Sonnets Sloppier Forms is a tapestry of emotions, weaving together the threads of loss, isolation, resilience, and hope. Through her evocative language and insightful observations, Petrova delves into the intimate experiences of individuals navigating the uncharted waters of the pandemic.

Beyond the Traditional Sonnet

While many of the sonnets in this collection adhere to the traditional form, Petrova playfully experiments with "sloppier forms," challenging the boundaries of the poetic structure. These departures from convention reflect the fluidity and unpredictability of the pandemic year itself.

In her "Pandemic Timeline," the poet unfurls a chronological narrative through a series of truncated sonnets, each capturing a distinct moment in the unfolding crisis. In "Ode to Zoom," she uses the sonnet form to explore the complexities of virtual communication and the longing for human connection.

A Cathartic Journey of Healing

Pandemic Year in Sonnets is not merely a record of the pandemic's impact; it is also a cathartic journey of healing and renewal. Through her sonnets, Petrova invites readers to share in the collective experience of loss, resilience, and the indomitable human spirit.

These poems offer a space for reflection, empathy, and finding meaning amidst adversity. They remind us that even in the darkest of times, the human capacity for connection and hope endures.
